JURISDICTION OF JUSTICES. - Judge Charles E. Susrt, presiding in the Carporation Court, today decided the cause of the Commonwealth vs. Isaiah Fisher, principal, and F. L. Brockett, surely, which was a motion on a forfeited recognizance to recover the penalty of the bond $200 for breach of peace. The opinion is imthe peace under the statutes. It is as follows:

Composation Court of Alexandria, Va.

Isaiah Fisher and F. L. Brockett, J Recog'ee.
This is a motion upon a recognizance entered into by Isaiah Fisher, as principal, and F. L. Brockett, his seatraty, before Justice Thompson, of this city, on the 8th day of February, 1878. The condition of the recognizance was that Isaiah Fisher should "keep the peace and be of good behavior toward all the citizens of this Commonwealth, and especially toward J. H. D. Smoot, fer and during the term of one year from the date thersef." The attorney for the Commonwealth sued out a seire I icias upon this recognizance at the February term, 1879, of this court, alleging a breach in its conditions by reason of an assault committed by said Fisher upon one S. Dasham, on the 23th day of August, 1878.
To the sat, is, the defendants have filed their six special pleas to which the Commonwealth demusted. The question presented for my consideration is, do these pleas present legal defences to the action upon the bond?

The second and third pleas simply aver durers, without stating the facts which show this morning: such duress. The plea to seize facias should state, I think, such facts as will caable the Court to determine, upon an inspection of the plea, whether they constitue a valid defence t) the action, inasmuch as all recognizances are entered into under a species of duress. The demurers to these pleas are therefore sustained.

The 4th, 5th, and 6th pleas are substantially cipal, Eisher, had been charged with or guilty of any of the offece s embraced in sec. 9, chap ter II of the revised criminal laws, and as to which conservators of the peace may take recognizance without process or troof. And they further aver that no person had made complaint to writing to the magistrate who took the recognizance, or any other conservafor of the peace, that there was good cause to fear that Fisher intended to con-

ration from an illegal custody had executed the

valid defence to this action. The jurisdiction of a justice of the peace is prevential the c in mission of offere s depends upon one of two preferred against him, or of which he may be informed, except vertally, and bind him ever to He No. to keep the peace without having complied A included of the directors of the Fair 1840* with one single provision of that law from which circles, will be held at the Commercial Exchange that a cors reator of the peace may detain one that a conservator of the peace may default one is eastedy upon a charge which, being verbal, he alone is awar of. And if he may not detain him in custody legally, then such detection here are Fairfex Agricultural and Industrial ing fereible and involuntary constitutes dures-I need not argue to show that any institutions executed to priente liberation from i legal entedy, is void. The principle is general and familiar. And that duress of imprisonmen discharges bail is held in State ve. Brantly et al, 27 Ala, 44, and in cases cited in Common wealth vs. Archer 10 Grar, p. 636 Hur it is urged that to receive these pleas is to allow the defendants to contradict the record. I cannot coincide with this view. They do not en tradiet the allegation of any warrant, they simply claim that none was ever issued, and no per tion of the recers shows that any warrant was issued. They do not dony that the magistrate took the recognizines or that it was exceuted by them. On the centrary they affirm both propositions, and such to avoid the recognizance by a plea of want of juried ction, and consequent duress in compelling the excution of i. 'The pless deny all the conditions on which the magistrat's jurisdic tion depended. And it can not be said that there is any con radiction of the record involv ed in such pleas." The magistrate had no vs. West et al. 30 st., p. 521.

It is urged however that even though the facts stated in the plas would constitute a the record collaterally, but it must be remembered that duress of imprisonment renders any void, and being void fants which go to show that may always be introduced. For these reasons the demurrer will be overruled as to the defendant's 4th, 5th and 6th pleas, and the Commonwealth to required to answer over or final judgment will be covered on these pleas for the defendants.

Seven years ago the farm, containing about 100 acres, was purchased at $26 per acre. About twenty acres were under cultivation, but very poor; the remainder in wood, brush, and briers. There was a small house, but no bare; cow there is a good sixed barn and all necessary out-buildings, with a well of water at the house and one at the barr; all the land (xeept about fifteen acres cleared up and under cultivation. About twenty teres is apple, pear, and peach crehard, nearly all in bearing, the trees, remarkably thrifty looking, having had a coat of lime, salt, and polash applied for three years bast, with good results therefrom. The stock consists of four horses, eight horned cattle, thirty sheep, twelve Berkshire hogs, poultry, etc. All of this year's crop of wheat, and part on hand. surplus. In subduing brush land Mr. Blunt contends there is a great advantage in cutting the brush and burning it in exactly the right time. His father taught him, in his native place in New Hampshire, to cut brush near the full of the moon in August, and burn at the full of the moon in September or October. The sprouts that spring up from cutting time to that of turning are roasted or burned so that the sap to more sprouts spring up afterward.

After giving this statement in regard to the condition and management of his farm, Mr. Blust asked the advice of the club is regard to accepting an offer of permanent employment at $100 per month, necessitating the selling or leasing of the farm. The unanimous advice ago, was examined and setenced to receive was to stay on his farm and enjoy the fruits of thirty nine lashes, which were at once adminhis well careed labors.

The greater portion of the time allotted for discussing farm topics was taken up in gaining information from our host and in examining his farm, which bore testimony to the correct-ness of the statements and the persevering industry and discretion displayed in renovating a poor, "worn out" portion of Virginia laud. A GENEROUS GIFF. - Notice has been heretofore made in the Gazatte of the process in building of the new German Lutheran Church, on the corner of Cameron and Alfred streets. Oa Saturday a prominent German citizen, who is not a member of the congregation, was posting the luilding and asked one of the builders to let him see the plans and drawings. They were shown him, and he noticed that there was to be no steeple or ball. He asked the cause, in the State of Virginia, at the close of business, able at present to afford those things. The enquirer immediately ordered the builder to bave the plan altered, build a good steeple and put a suitable bell there is, and send the bill to him.
